

Meet Your Nurse Practitioner

Jennifer R. Ingold, NP

Keeping up with current guidelines is crucial to appropriate treatment plans. Educating your patients and involving them in their plan of care is a great way to build a good rapport. I want my patients to feel safe. Providing reasoning and rationale for your treatment plans allows patient to be aware of why you're ordering or prescribing certain things.

Why I Decided to Become a Medical Provider

"When I was younger I remember watching the television show ER with my mom. I always thought that would be a great job/career. The nurses were always making such an impact on their patients and the providers "worked miracles". My grandmother & mother were nurses so it seemed appropriate that I would follow in their footsteps. After working as a nurse for a few years, I decided to take my education and training to the next level and become a nurse practitioner."
