

Meet Your Internal Medicine Physician

Matthew Kresca, MD

I believe that medicine should be based on a relationship between a patient and their physician. From this, I strive to provide personalized care that is not only medically-sound but is also congruent with one's goals and values.

Why I Chose Health Care

"To me, a physician is someone who combines a vast amount of knowledge about a myriad of ailments with being a fierce patient advocate and teacher. During medical school, I worked with Internal Medicine physicians that astounded me in their ability to so intricately manage extremely complex patients with the energy and tenderness necessary to manage patients as a whole. From that experience, I knew that Internal Medicine would best satisfy my desire for an intellectually-stimulating yet patient-centered career."
