

Meet Your Internist and Nephrologist

Smita Murty, MD, MPH

I have genuine concern for my patients. I believe that trust is a key factor in the doctor-patient relationship and I strive to establish a life-long relationship with my patients on the basis of their trust and mutual respect. I believe in evidence based medicine and take great care to make sure that my patients receive sound medical advice based on the most recent recommendations and guidelines.

Why I Became a Medical Provider

"I wanted to become a physician since childhood. I was always very interested in biology and I liked taking care of people. Being a medical provider gives me the opportunity to serve people and help them live a healthier life."
