

Meet Your Family Medicine Provider

Usman Qasim, MD

I'm a big picture person that enjoys long term relationships. Family medicine is all about long term relationships and seeing medical care we deliver in the wider context of the patient's life.

Why I Chose Health Care

I was always interested in biology growing up. After spending time in college doing research in the lab, working with the local public health department, and volunteering with physicians I felt medicine was the best fit for me. I am excited by the sciences, enjoy the practical application, and most importantly love working with people. Putting it all together led me to a career in medicine!
