Dr. McGregor enjoys playing piano, photography, and gardening. She wants all her patients to know she is a simple country girl with a big heart. She has lots of enthusiasm for her profession and believes it to be the best job in the world.

Becoming a physician is a long process that requires significant sacrifices from not only the person involved but also their loved ones. My greatest challenge has been balancing my drive to continuously become a better physician with my desire to also be a good wife and mother to two young children.
